SECTION 3146

CABERNET SAUVIGNON

BAROSSA VALLEY

BAROSSA VALLEY

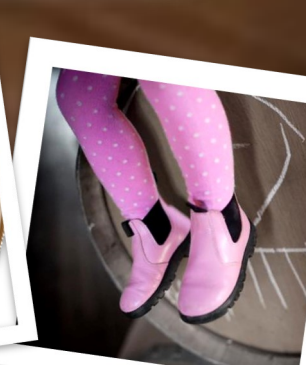

HISTORY | Joachim Zerk, an early German pioneer farmer, settled in the Barossa Valley in 1846. He then purchased for 200 pounds what he considered a perfect site for a vineyard, which was named 'SECTION 3146'.

The Zerk vineyard (where sisters Janelle and Kristen grew up together) is situated in Lyndoch in the Barossa Valley and is steeped deep in family history. This wine captures the essence and evolution of five generations of pioneering hard work from 1846 (over 170 years).

VINTAGE | An early vintage coupled with great ripening conditions resulted in generous wines from the Barossa Valley in 2016. This 'Section 3146' release has loads of body and dark fruit flavour but manages to maintain varietal herbal, mint and leafy notes that Cabernet is famous for— a result only achieved in good vineyards and careful blending for this particular vintage.

WINEMAKING | The fruit was picked in the cool of the night and fermented in open fermenters with daily pump overs and several drain downs. It has spent 24 months in barrel maturing in the cellar. The oak accentuates the savoury characters in the wine, which adds to its marvellous complexity with toasty cedar and tobacco notes.

- Janelle and Kristen Zerk

COLOUR | Dark red with ruby hues.

NOSE | An intense bouquet of black forest fruits coupled with lifted herb and cassis notes.

PALATE | An abundance of ripe blackcurrant fruit on the palate pairs seamlessly with layers of tobacco and mint finishing with a balanced tannin structure.

ANALYSIS | Alcohol – 14.5%

CELLARING | Generous and drinking beautifully now— some cellaring may suit your taste and will produce a more savoury wine with time – 10 years plus recommended.
